Anachronism, a portmanteau of "anachronism" and "anarchy", is an exhibition of "neo-analogue" artworks that disrupt the binary logic of "digital versus analogue" and "new versus obsolete". The selected artworks - between post-internet, retrofuturism or digital archeology - play with the historical succession of our techno-cultural layers creating ambiguity, compressing and disrupting time.

ARTISTS

Cécile Babiole, Jean-François Blanquet, Balint Bolygo, James Bridle, Dardex, David Guez, Martin Howse, Flo Kaufmann, Suzanne Treister, Signal to Noise, Société Anonyme and Weise 7.
